Two or more courses at the 400/600 level One of these may be a literature in translation course at the 300 level.
FREN H101 Elementary French I (4)
Staff. An introduction to the skills of speaking, understanding, reading, and writing French and to Francophone cultures.

FREN 101 Elementary French I (4)
Staff. An introduction to the five skills of language acquisition: reading, writing, listening, speaking, and cultural understanding.

FREN H102 Elementary French II (4)
Staff. A continuation of the objectives presented in French I. Offered every spring semester. Open to students with B+ or better in French 101.

FREN 102 Elementary French II (4)
Staff. Prerequisite: FREN 101. A continuation of the objectives presented in French I.

FREN H203 Intermediate French (4)
Staff. Prerequisite: FREN 102, or admission by departmental placement. Intermediate French language with emphasis on reading, conversation, and composition.

FREN 203 Intermediate French (4)
Staff. Prerequisite: FREN 102 or admission by departmental placement. Intermediate French language with emphasis on reading, conversation, and composition.

FREN 213 Intermediate French Conversation (2)
Staff. Prerequisite: FREN 203 or equivalent. Designed to improve the ability to understand spoken French through the use of audio tapes, videos and multi-media, interactive computer assisted instruction. Course meets twice a week. May not be used to fulfill the language proficiency requirement.

FREN 301 Topics in French Cultural Studies (3)
Staff. Topics of literary, cultural, and historical interest are offered on a regular basis by departmental faculty. The course is designed to introduce students to France from a variety of critical perspectives. These may include social space, Le Grand Siècle, autobiography, Paris as myth and reality, civility, food, institutions of schooling or the cultural production of “Frenchness.” Offered in translation. A writing practicum is available for students who wish to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement with this course.

FREN 302 French Feminisms (3)
Prof. Glidden. This course attempts to provide a basic vocabulary for the discussion of gender and sexuality. It introduces the philosophical notion of difference, thus encouraging reflection on women as a category of thought. Finally, it explores the peculiarly French approach to feminism, so that a culture in its specificity may be better known. Throughout the course, the richness of feminism as a historical, cultural, and theoretical movement will be discussed. Offered in translation. A writing practicum is available for students who wish to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement with this course.

FREN 303 Women Writers of the French and Francophone Worlds in Translation (3)
Prof. McCall, Prof. McGrady. Introduction to works by major French and/or Francophone women writers in translation. The course may focus on works by contemporary women writers, or examine texts from a range of historical periods. The issues raised in this course may include: the material conditions in which women have written; problems of publication; the specificity of women’s writing; the conceptualization of gender: gender, race, and class. A writing practicum is available in conjunction with this course.

FREN 304 African and Caribbean Literature (3)
Prof. Watts. An introduction to African and Caribbean literature, cinema, and other forms of cultural production and an exploration of movements and concepts such as Negritude, Créolité, diaspora, and hybridity. Readings and discussion entirely in English. A writing practicum is available for students who wish to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement with this course.

FREN 305 Literature in Exile (3)
Prof. Watts. A presentation of recent works by writers born in the French-speaking former colonies of Africa and the Caribbean, but living and writing elsewhere (e.g., Paris, Montreal, Brooklyn). Some of the questions the course will endeavor to answer are: What happens to cultures when they are displaced? How does one conceive of “home” when in exile, and is it possible to return? Is “rootlessness” a source of creativity, or a detriment to it? Reading and discussions entirely in English. A writing practicum is available.

FREN 306 Self-Love, Sympathy, and Civil Society in Early Modern France (3)
Prof. Koch. This course examines the transition from moralist speculation in 17th-and 18th century France to the refounding of civil society and public life. Readings will focus on the mutual imbication of ethics and civil life based on the development of such concepts as self-love, identification, sympathy, and social “commerce” in the writings of Augustinian moralists such as La Rochefoucauld, Pascal, and Nicole, philosophers such as Descartes, Hobbes, and Malebranche, and pre-Enlightenment and Enlightenment writers such as Rousseau, Shaftesbury, Mandeville and Smith. Readings and lectures in English. A writing practicum is available.

FREN 307 French Around the World (3)
Prof. Klingler. A linguistic survey of the Francophone world, with particular focus on French outside of France. The course begins with a historical look at the spread of French within and beyond Europe, then examines in turn the major French-speaking populations of Europe, North America, the Caribbean, Africa, the Indian Ocean, Southeast Asia, and the Pacific. While linguistic variation in each region will be considered, the main emphasis will be on sociolinguistic issues such as bilingualism and language contact, language politics and planning, linguistic insecurity, and language in education. Option for the major and minor in French.

FREN 311 French Cinema (3)
Prof. McCarren, Prof. Ramazani. French film from its origins in 1895 to the present. Early film, technology, and physiology: the Lumière, Marey, Méliès; classic French cinema: Renoir, Gance. The French New Wave: Resnais, Truffaut, Godard, and others. Avant-garde, surrealist, and science fiction films; postmodernity, film and video; women filmmakers and feminist film theory. Attendance at screening is required. Taught in English; films in French with English subtitles.

FREN 313 French Media and Oral Performance (3)
Staff. Prerequisite: FREN 203 or equivalent. Students will improve their listening comprehension of French, improve their oral performance, and gain familiarity with aspects of contemporary French society through the study of film, television, the news media, etc. Students will acquire an active knowledge of new vocabulary and develop a greater sensitivity to the distinctions between various levels of language. Required for the major.

FREN 314 French Phonetics (3)
Prof. Klingler. Prerequisite: FREN 203 or equivalent. The study of the sound system of French for improving pronunciation. Students learn the fundamental concepts of phonetics, phonemics, and contrastive analysis while also practicing French pronunciation and learning to convert French spelling into phonetic transcription using the International Phonetic Alphabet. Independent work in the language laboratory is an important component of the course. Option for the major and minor in French.

FREN 315 Advanced Grammar and Composition (3)
Staff. Prerequisite: FREN 203 or equivalent. French 203 may be taken concurrently. A thorough and comprehensive review of French grammar, including principles and distinctions not usually covered in lower and intermediate courses. Mastery of principles will be reinforced through oral and written class drill, frequent testing, and directed composition. Required for the major and minor.

FREN 321 Introduction to Literary Analysis (3)
Staff. Prerequisites: completion of language requirement, FREN 315, or departmental approval. The course provides students with the requisite tools of literary interpretation and analysis. By reading closely a variety of literary texts drawn from different periods and genres, students will become familiar with the fundamentals of criticism and poetics. Regular writing assignments are required. Required for the major and minor. A writing practicum is available. French majors may use it to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement.

FREN 325 French Society and Institutions (3)
Staff. Prerequisites: completion of the language requirement, FREN 315, or departmental approval. An introduction to French society and the institutions that shaped it. Using periodization to define particular historical movements such as the Gallo-Roman period, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance, Enlightenment, revolutionary France, and the Third Republic, the course focuses on historical and architectural sites in Paris and the provinces to consider issues of French identity. Required for the major.

FREN 333 French Literature in Translation (3)
Staff. Subject varies with instructor. May treat a particular literary period, a genre, or a subject, e.g., fatal love in French literature. May be repeated for credit. A writing practicum is available for students who wish to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement with this course.

FREN 388 Writing Practicum (1)
Staff. Corequisite: three-credit departmental course at the 300 level. Prerequisite: successful completion of the First-Year Writing Requirement. Writing practicum in English or French. Fulfills the college intensive-writing requirement for non-majors.

FREN 401 The French Short Story (3)
Staff. Corequisite or prerequisite: FREN 321. Gateway course required for French majors and minors. Selected stories by some of the masters of the genre: Marie de France, Bonaventure des Periers, Charles Perrault, Voltaire, Guy de Maupassant, Albert Camus. The emphasis in this course will be placed on reading comprehension, vocabulary building, and development of oral and written proficiency as well as on the application of the analytic skills learned in French 321. A writing practicum is available. French majors may use it to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement.

FREN 410 French in Louisiana (3)
Prof. Klingler. Prerequisite: 300 level or equivalent. An introduction to the French-related language varieties spoken in Louisiana: Cajun, Creole and Colonial French. Examines the history of their implantation and development in Louisiana, their basic structural features, and the main sociolinguistic issues surrounding their use. Attention will also be given to language planning measures currently being taken to revitalize the French language in the state. A writing practicum is available. French majors may use it to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement. Same as FREN 610.

FREN 411 Field Research on French in Louisiana (3)
Prof. Klingler. No prerequisites but FREN 314, 410, and/or courses in linguistics are highly recommended. Students will interview and record speakers of Cajun, Creole, and Colonial French in various parts of Louisiana. Working individually and in groups, they will then transcribe the recordings for purposes of linguistic description and analysis. A writing practicum is available. French majors may use it to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement. Same as FREN 611.

FREN 416 Translation Theory and Practice (3)
Prof. Watts. Prerequisite: 300 level or equivalent. This course will provide students with the tools to translate a variety of types of texts (mostly literary, but also legal, journalistic, commercial, etc.) and to introduce them to translation theory as it relates to the problem of translating cultural difference and to the issues of originality, authorship, and the “ownership” of the text. Students will translate from French to English as well as from English to French. Course taught principally in English. Reading knowledge of French required. Same as FREN 616.

FREN 422 Medieval French Literature (3)
Prof. McGrady, Prof. Poe. Prerequisite: 300 level or equivalent. Readings in modern translation of such works as La Chanson de Roland, the lais of Marie de France, Chrétien de Troyes’ Lancelot, Béroul’s Tristan, Aucassin et Nicolette and the poetry of François Villon. A writing practicum is available. French majors may use it to fulfill the college intensive-writing requirement. Same as FREN 622.

HAITIAN CREOLE

HACR 111 Haitian Creole I (3)
Staff. This course introduces the basic to intermediate-level vocabulary and grammar of Haitian Creole. No previous knowledge of Creole is required, but some familiarity with French or Spanish is desirable. Does not count toward the foreign language proficiency requirement.

HACR 112 Intermediate Haitian Creole (3)
Staff. The course is designed to give the student a deeper knowledge of Haitian Creole. Communication skills are stressed with particular emphasis on conversation and role play. Grammatical structures are embedded in meaningful dialogues. Different cultural aspects will be explored as a vehicle to increase language competence. Further in the course, we will increase the focus on Haitian culture covering Creole literature, Haitian folkloric music, poetry, and theatre. We will end the course with “Fòs Lawouze”, Creole adaptation of Jacques Roumain “Gouverneur de la Rosée”.

HACR 113 Haitian Language and Culture I (3)
Staff. This course is designed to challenge the student’s ability to communicate and to engage in formal conversation in Haitian Creole. This course will be taught entirely in Creole. The student’s knowledge of Haitian culture will be enhanced with more advanced study of Haitian Creole’s literature. There will be weekly emphasis on Haitian proverbs which form an important aspect of the Haitian language and of communication in Haiti. Haitian newspapers in Creole will be used to help the student understand Haitian cultural and political life and favors discussion about current events.

HACR 281, 282 Special Projects (3, 3)
Staff. This course will provide students with a broader knowledge of Haitian language and culture. Emphasis will be placed on research, essays, and discussion.
