Muscular Dystrophy

Creating a Remote Control

Team Smooth Operators

Roy Day
Jay Mattapally
Karthik Kura
Karl Rundback

New Orleans, LA 70118
Lindy Boggs Slote 500
Dept. of Biomedical Engineering
Tulane University

(504) 665-9898

For information contact Dr. D. Rice

day@tulane.edu
jay@tulane.edu
karl@tulane.edu
karthik@tulane.edu
One for all remote control
URC 9966

Remote control

- Remote control holder
- Indicator holder
- Base

Components:
Our solution consists of three main

Solution

Function of this remote control

Indoors and outdoors, accessible and visible, so that our client can have the remote easily accessible in bed. The primary goal is to

Base

Goal

Remotely control entertainment system while lying in bed. The primary goal is to

Our client, Craig Mitchell, was diagnosed with Muscular Dystrophy at the age of 2 causing him to suffer some physical

Craig Mitchell was specifically impaired in his daily life in

In particular, our client has difficulty controlling his entertainment center

In particular, our client has difficulty

controlling the buttons on his remote while providing enough leverage to

while providing enough resistance

while providing enough resistance

while providing enough resistance

while providing enough resistance

while providing enough resistance

while providing enough resistance